The county that called a convention to select a candidate for the Constitutional Convention is certainly counting on the future with a degree of certainty rarely seen. It is probably has not occurred to the people of that county that no Constitutional Convention has been called. This is another instance of the folly and absurdity of early conventions.

Mr. W. W. Martin, associate editor of the County Gazette, is a candidate for Sergeant at Arms of the Lower House of the next General Assembly. Mr. Martin is a deserving young man, and would make a capable officer should he be elected to that position. He is recommended and strongly endorsed by hundreds of the best citizens of Lyon and Caldwell counties, and will probably be the only candidate from the Globe who has a better chance of success.

Mr. C. R. Martin, of Hartford, and the HEALTH wishes him success in his aspirations.

CHAS. M. DIXON, while attending to his many business duties, has time for thought. He says truly of our girls:

"I sometimes claim that our fashionable girls are not educated. They acknowledge that they are pretty, alert, witty and ambitious, but claim they are not serious. They are accused of knowing everything, but they know nothing of science, politics, history or art. They are a girl of wealthy parents, a girl of high social position, a girl of high education, and yet they are ignorant of the most elementary principles of science, politics, history or art. They are a girl of wealthy parents, a girl of high social position, a girl of high education, and yet they are ignorant of the most elementary principles of science, politics, history or art."

The press of Kentucky has lost one of its most valuable members in the death of Col. Edwin C. Colgan, who departed this life in the city of Louisville, Monday morning. Col. Colgan was a soldier in the late war, winning distinction under Gen. John Morgan. He was as brave in peace as in war, and was held in high esteem by all who knew him. He first began journalism as a reporter for the Louisville Herald. Afterward he edited a paper at Elizabethtown, moving from that place to Louisville, where he later took charge of his own paper, the Commercial. At the time of his death he was publishing a paper at Middletown, Ky. His loss will be felt. While at Elizabethtown he wrote the four-page column held this week, which has been heard the world around.

Col. SAM M. BRIDGES is giving the County Journal a liberal and cordial communications while he travels over the State perfecting that paper's telegraphic correspondence. His letters from Central City and Russellville were particularly interesting. Col. Bridges is a newspaper man of the finest type.

On the 25th of this month Dr. Talague will personally break ground on the north-east corner of Clinton and Green avenues, Brooklyn, for the building of a new Town Hall. The ground cost $125,000, and the new building will be more commodious and imposing than the former one.

Since Indianapolis voted Democratic President Harrison says he will give no more "spide" to that progressive city. Under this administration officers are given away as rewards for party work. The President for the President to turn his attention to more fruitful fields. The politics of a great country is getting pretty low when the greatest recommendation for official preferment is the amount of "spitting" a man has done for the party.

The fact that there are Democrats in candidate already in the field, and that there will soon appear, is no reason for an early convention, or primary, as the committee may decide. Let as many of the boys announce as want to, and some time next spring about the middle of April or the first of May—the Democratic party can select its candidates and let them go out into the canvass to win the fight. There is no desire, even by candidates and prospective candidates, for early nominations, and the Democratic party of Ohio county will not be in a hurry about the matter.

The report of the board appointed to investigate the Pension Office under Turner, has been made public. The report contains evidence of base methods. The committee concludes its report as follows:

"While the fact appears to be that which calls for the correction of a palpable error, by reason of which manifest injustice has been done, such rule must not be a matter of mere technicality, in any proper sense of the term, but rather a matter of justice, and the proper use of the rule should be to correct the error, and not to punish the person in the judgment of the law, in which the manifest injustice was deliberately and officially committed."

The practice of raising pensions in the future, in which the manifest injustice was deliberately and officially committed, is a practice which should be corrected. ## GEN. SAM E. HILL

Will be in the field for Congress With Splendid Chances for Success. There is a good deal of talk about the next Congress from the Fourth district. Mr. Montgomery will find very generally expected if he undertakes to have no opposition; but, in the event of a contest, Mr. Hill, of Hartford, is a candidate and did not want to be elected. With his natural ability and unselfishness, he declared that the district ought to send Preceptor Knott to Congress and keep him there as long as he would consent to stay.

Gov. Knott was willing to stay in the Senate, but he is not likely to stay in the Senate. The Fourth district will have plenty of candidates without the exception of Mr. Hill, of Hartford, who is a candidate for Congress.

Mr. Hill has been talking for a long time about running for Congress, and he has been talking for a long time about running for Congress. He has been talking for a long time about running for Congress, and he has been talking for a long time about running for Congress.

Genuine Democratic Talk

The following was uttered by the illustrious speaker, The Hon. Hon. Charles H. Black, President of the National Association of Democratic Clubs, in a speech to that body:

"What is the matter? All that is left of local liberty, of personal liberty, of State rights, of home rule, of freedom in trade, of party in elections, is due to the conservative efforts of the Democratic party to defend the Constitution of 1787 against the assaults of covert enemies of the nation now snatched under the name of the Republican party, busily clamoring for the public good, but all the time working for private gain, and increasing the burdens of the people for the benefit of the few. The majority of the people are against it today, but it has become so entrenched by its long and successful career that it is now more apparent than ever that Samuel J. Tilden was right when he said it would require a majority of at least two-thirds of all the people to dislodge the usurpers from their formidable stronghold."

The Longest Line. LONDON, Oct. 21. What is undoubtedly the longest telephone circuit on the continent was opened to the public yesterday. The line is from Vienna, in Austria, to Leipzig, and every wire can be perfectly understood and the voice recognized without difficulty.

The express office at Jackson, Tenn., was robbed of $5,120 by unknown thieves. James Kerrie shot and killed Lee Davis at a negro festival near Shelbyville, Ky. Janel E. Irelford, a well-known railroad agent, is dead at Essex, Conn., aged fifty-five.
